

The Growth Portfolio

Portfolio Objective: Portfolio Strategy: Target Portfolio Allocation:

The primary objective of the Growth Focus portfolio is to invest in a portfolio of equities with an emphasis on returns earned primarily through capital appreciation. There will be risk to capital.

The strategy provides a diversified exposure to USD-denominated equities using Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs). The selection of ETFs will be primarily equity ETFs with a strong focus on high growth sectors and companies. The equity ETFs held will include small and mid-sized companies that are expected to grow faster than average over time, albeit with a higher level of volatility than large companies. Small and medium-sized companies generally do not pay much by way of dividends and as such most of the return achieved will be via price appreciation.

Who should invest? Market Outlook:

Investors seeking higher returns and those who can withstand a moderate level of risk. There is risk to capital, however, over the long-term this portfolio should outperform deposits and other short-term instruments. It is recommended investors have an investment time horizon of at least 5 years.

The U.S. economy grew at an annualised pace of 6.7% in Q2 2021, continuing the strong rebound seen since the development and distribution of vaccines. The US Federal Reserve maintained its target rate at 0%-.25%, signaling a 2023 date for the resumption of interest rate hikes. The S&P 500 returned 0.23% in Q3 down from 8.17% in Q2. Optimism in developed economies took a breather in Q3 as concerns around elevated inflation as well as the potential for a default of a large Chinese real estate company spooked investors. The stalled Infrastructure Bill as well as continued spread of the delta variant has also dampened the positive mood. Job creation has also slowed over August and September 2021 with only 235,000 and 192,000 jobs created respectively. Emerging economies continue to lag in vaccination, contributing to delays in resolving supply chain bottlenecks. Labour shortages in the U.S. have also become more of an issue as workers have been slow to return. Overall we see growth normalizing over the upcoming quarters to a 3%-4% pace while inflation remains elevated. We do not see a stagflation scenario but rather a delay in the normalisation of inflation relative to the normalisation of growth. We expect equity markets to remain resilient however returns will be more discerning going forward as the bulk of the “recovery trade” is behind us.
